DETAILED ACTION

An examination of this application reveals that applicant is unfamiliar with patent prosecution procedure. While an inventor may prosecute the application, lack of skill in this field usually acts as a liability in affording the maximum protection for the invention disclosed. Applicant is advised to secure the services of a registered patent attorney or agent to prosecute the application, since the value of a patent is largely dependent upon skilled preparation and prosecution. The Office cannot aid in selecting an attorney or agent.

Applicant is advised of the availability of the publication "Attorneys and Agents Registered to Practice Before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office." This publication is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Specification

The substitute specification including the claims filed on September 3 , 2002 has been entered.

Priority

The priority data in the Cross Reference to Related Applications section of the specification is objected to because a Non-Provisional Application can not claim that it is a continuation of a Provisional Application. A Non-Provisional Application can only claim the benefit of a Provisional Application.

Claim Objections

Claims 1-4 are objected to because of the following informalities: The use of the words "We claim" in claims 1-4 is improper and should not be included

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1; the recitation of "We claim the creation and use of a portable device..." is vague and indefinite because while a claim can only claim one statutory class of invention, claim 1 appears to claiming three statutory classes of inventions (i.e. an apparatus, process and process of making an apparatus). Furthermore, it is vague and indefinite as to where the preamble of the claim stops and the body of the claim begins. In addition, it is vague and indefinite as to whether the body of the claim is open or closed (i.e. comprising or consisting of?). Also, the recitation of (made from either food grade or non food grade materials) is vague and indefinite as to why that recitation is in parenthesis, as well as what is meant by food grade materials and nonfood grade materials. In addition, it is vague and indefinite as to whether the applicant is trying to claim an improved strainer/colander or if the applicant is only claiming a base to elevate a strainer/colander. Also, the recitation of "such devices" is vague and indefinite as to what is meant by such devices. Furthermore, the recitation of "the food products" lacks antecedent basis.

Regarding claim 2; the recitation of "We claim the creation and use of a new strainer colander" is vague and indefinite because while a claim can only claim one statutory class of invention, claim 2 appears to claiming three statutory classes of inventions (i.e. an apparatus, process and process of making an apparatus). Furthermore, it is vague and indefinite as to where the preamble of the claim stops and the body of the claim begins. In addition, it is vague and indefinite as to whether the body of the claim is open or closed (i.e. comprising or consisting of?). Also, the recitation of (made from either food grade or non food grade materials) is vague and indefinite as to why that recitation is in parenthesis, as well as what is meant by food grade materials and nonfood grade materials. Also, the recitation of "such devices" is vague and indefinite as to what is meant by such devices. Furthermore, the recitation of "the food products" lacks antecedent basis.

Regarding claim 3; since claim 3 is an independent claim and not a dependent claim, the entire claim 3 can not be understood. In addition, it is vague and indefinite as to where the preamble of the claim stops and the body of the claim begins. Also, it is vague and indefinite as to whether the body of the claim is open or closed (i.e. comprising or consisting of?). In addition, the recitation of "such devices" is vague and indefinite as to what is meant by such devices. Furthermore, the recitations of "the strainer/colander", "the surface on which it rests", "the universal device", "the top", and "the bottom" all lacks antecedent basis.

Regarding claim 4; claim 4 is vague and indefinite because it fails to point out what is included or excluded by the claim language. This claim is an omnibus type claim. See section 2173.05 (r) of the MPEP.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Massey et al. who discloses a colander/strainer (3, 4) which is elevated by a vessel (2). See figures 1 and 3-5.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Rayborn et al. who discloses a colander/strainer (1) which is elevated by a container (3). See figure 1.
